

DICKSON MONARE - PROJECT MANAGER - RECYCLING INITIATIVES

Dickson was recruited into The SOUL Foundation in 2000 as a River Worker. His outstanding leadership and management skills soon became evident and he was promoted to Team Leader status and ear-marked to be trained up as a Project Manager. After intensive leadership and skills training, Dickson became a Project Manager at the beginning of 2001. He has held this position for 10 years.

Dickson has in-depth, on-the-ground knowledge of both SOUL Foundations River Project and Recycling Initiatives, being closely involved with recruitment processes, waste management strategies and implementation, training, safety training and reporting. His passion lies within recycling. He has extensive knowledge regarding waste management systems, separation processes, recyclable recovery and grading, market prices and potential returns. He has effectively helped to develop and manage various buy-back initiatives for the SOUL Foundation.

Dickson sits on the Board of The SOUL Foundation. He lives in Thembisa with his wife and son.
